

Semmes, Raphael. Memoirs of Service Afloat, during the War Between the States. Baltimore: Kelly, Piet & Co., 1869.

CHAPTER I. A Brief Historical Retrospect 17

CHAPTER II. The Nature of the American Compact 24

CHAPTER III. From the Foundation of the Federal Government down to 1880, both the North and the South held the Constitution to be a Compact between the States 36

CHAPTER IV. Was Secession Treason ? 46

CHAPTER V. Another Brief Historical Retrospect 52

CHAPTER VI. The Question of Slavery as it affected Secession 62

CHAPTER VII. The Formation of the Confederate Government, and the Resignation of Officers of the Federal Army and Navy 71

CHAPTER VIII. Author proceeds to Montgomery, and reports to the New Government, and is dispatched northward on a Special Mission81

CHAPTER IX. The Commissioning of the Sumter, the First Confederate States Ship of War 93

CHAPTER X. The Preparation of the Sumter for Sea She drops down between the Forts Jackson and St. Philip Receives her Sailing Orders List of her Officers 97

CHAPTER XI. After long Waiting and Watching, the Sumter runs the Blockade of the Mississippi, in open Daylight, pursued by the Brooklyn . . . 108

CHAPTER XII. Brief Sketch of the Officers of the Sumter Her First Prize, with other Prizes in Quick Succession120

CHAPTER XIII. Rapid Work Seven Prizes in Two Days The Sumter makes her First Port, and what occurred there 132

CHAPTER XIV The Sumter on the Wing again She is put wholly under Sail for the first time Reaches the Island of Cura9oa, and is only able to enter after a Diplomatic Fight 144

CHAPTER XV. The Sumter at Cura9oa Her Surroundings Preparations for Sea Her Captain solicited to become a Warwick Her Departure The Capture of other Prizes Puerto Cabello, and what occurred there . 155

CHAPTER XVI. Steaming along the Coast of Venezuela The Coral Insect, and the Wonders of the Deep The Andes and the Rainy Season The Sumter enters the Port of Spain in the British Island of Trinidad . .170

CHAPTER XVII. On the Way to Maranham The Weather and the Winds The Sumter runs short of Coal, and is obliged to "bear up" Cayenne and Paramaribo, in French and Dutch Guiana Sails again, and arrives at Maranham, in Brazil 188

CHAPTER XVIII. The Sumter at Maranham More Diplomacy necessary The Hotel Porto and its Proprietor A week on Shore Ship coals and sails again 210

CHAPTER XIX. The Sumter at Martinique Proceeds from Fort de France to St. Pierre Is an Object of much Curiosity with the Islanders News of the Arrest of Messrs. Mason and Slidell, on board the British Mail Steamer, The Trent Mr. Seward s extraordinary Course on the Occasion . . 232

CHAPTER XX. Arrival at St. Pierre of the Enemy s Steam-sloop Iroquois How she violates the Neutrality of the Port Arrival of the French Steamer-of-War Acheron The Iroquois blockades the Sumter Correspondence with the Governor Escape of the Sumter 252

CHAPTER XXI. The Sumter pursues her Voyage across the Atlantic Capture and Burning of the Arcade, Vigilant, and Ebenezer Dodge A Leaky Ship and a Gale An Alarm of Fire ! 268

CHAPTER XXII. Voyage across the Atlantic pursued Christmas-day on board the Sumter Cape Fly-away, and the Curious Illusion produced by it The Sumter passes from the Desert Parts of the Sea into a Tract of Commerce once more Boards a large Fleet of Ships in one Day, but finds no Enemy among them Arrival at Cadiz 283

CHAPTER XXIII. Annoyance of the Spanish Officials Short Correspondence with the U. S. Consul The Telegraph put in Operation by the Officials between Cadiz and Madrid The Sumter is ordered to leave in twenty-four Hours Declines Obedience to the Order Prisoners land, and Ship Docked after much ado Deserters Sumter leaves Cadiz . 297

CHAPTER XXIV. The Sumter off Cadiz The Pillars of Hercules Gibraltar Capture of the Enemy s Ships Neapolitan and Investigator A Conflagration between Europe and Africa The Sumter anchors in the Harbor of Gibraltar; the Rock; the Town; the Military; the Review, and the Alameda . 306

CHAPTER XXV. The Sumter still at Gibraltar Ship crowded with Visitors A Ride over the Rock with Colonel Freemantle The Galleries and other Subterranean Wonders A Dizzy Height, and the Queen of Spain s Chair The Monkeys and the Neutral Ground 320

CHAPTER XXVI. The Sumter in Trouble Finds it impossible to coal, by reason of a Combination against her, headed by the Federal Consul Applies to the British Government for Coal, but is refused Sends her Pay master and Ex-Consul Tunstall to Cadiz They are arrested and imprisoned in Tangier Correspondence on the Subject The Sumter laid up and sold 329

CHAPTER XXVII. Author leaves Gibraltar and arrives in London Mr. Commissioner Mason Confederate Naval News Short Sojourn in London Author embarks on board the Steamer Melita for Nassau Receives new Orders from the Navy Department Returns to Liverpool . 346

CHAPTER XXVIII. A Brief Resume of the History of the War, from the date of the commis- & sioning the Sumter, to the commissioning of the Alabama Secretary Mallory and the Difficulties by which he was surrounded The Reor ganization of the Confederate States Navy 361

CHAPTER XXIX. The Legality of the Equipment of the Alabama, and a few Precedents for her Career, drawn from the History of the War of 1776 . . . 370

CHAPTER XXX. The Equipment of the Alabama illustrated by that of sundry Colonial Cruisers during the War of 1776 Benjamin Franklin and Silas Deane sent to Paris as Chiefs of a Naval Bureau The Surprise and the Revenge Captains Wickes and Conyngham, and Commodore John Paul Jones 388

CHAPTER XXXI. Author leaves Liverpool to join the Alabama Arrives at Terceira , Description of the Alabama Preparing her for Sea The Portuguese Authorities The commissioning of the Ship A Picture of her Birth and Death Captain Bullock returns to England The Alabama on the High Seas 400

CHAPTER XXXII. The Alabama a Ship of War, and not a Privateer Sketch of the Personnel of the Ship Putting the Ship in Order for Service Sail and Steam The Character of the Sailor The First Blow is struck at the Whale Fishery The Habitat and Habits of the Whale Capture of the Ocmulgee 414

CHAPTER XXXIII. Capture of the Starlight; Ocean Rover; Alert; Weather Gauge A Chase by Moonlight Capture of the Altamaha; Virginia; Elisha Dunbar A Rough Sea, Toiling Boats, and a Picturesque Conflagration in a Gale 428

CHAPTER XXXIV. The Yankee Colony of the Island of Flores What the Captains of the Virginia and Elisha Dunbar said of the Alabama when they got back among their Countrymen The Whaling Season at the Azores at an End The Alabama changes her Cruising Ground What she saw and what she did . 445

CHAPTER XXXV Capricious Weather of the Gulf Stream Capture of the Packet-Ship Tonawanda; of the Manchester and Lafayette A Cyclone, the Ala bama s First Gale How she behaved 463

CHAPTER XXXVI. The Physiognomy of Ships Capture of the Lafayette Decree of the Admiralty Court on board the Alabama in her Case, and in that of the Lauretta The Criticisms of the New York Press Further Evidence of the Rotary Nature of the Winds The Lauretta captured The Crenshaw captured The New York Chamber of Commerce cries aloud in Pain Capture of the Baron de Castine, and of the Levi Starbuck Capture of the T. B. Wales Lady Prisoners . 479

CHAPTER XXXVII. The Calm-Belts and the Trade-Winds The Arrival of the Alabama at the Island of Martinique The Curiosity of the Islanders to see the Ship A Quasi Mutiny among the Crew, and how it was quelled . 498

CHAPTER XXXVIII. The Alabama at Martinique Is blockaded by the Enemy s Steamer San Jacinto How she escaped the Old Wagon The Island of Blanquilla, the Alabama s new Rendezvous Coaling Ship A Yankee Skipper and his Alarm How the Officers and Men amused them selves at this Island The Alabama sails again Capture of the Parker Cooke, Union, and Steamer Ariel 514

CHAPTER XXXIX The Alabama is disabled by an Accident, and stops to repair her Machinery Proceeds to her New Rendezvous at the Areas Islands, and thence to Galveston Engagement with the United States Steamer Hatteras, which she sinks 536

CHAPTER XL. The Alabama proceeds to Jamaica, where she lands her Prisoners and refits Her Commander visits the Country Intercourse with the English Naval Officers Earl Russell s Letter Preparations for Sea A Boat Race by Moonlight, in which Strange Tactics are practised Captain Blake of the Hatteras complains of "Dixie" being played by the English Bands How the Matter is settled . . 551

CHAPTER XLI. Departure from Jamaica Capture of the Golden Rule Coasting the Island of Hayti Capture of the Castelaïne The Old City of St. Domingo and its Reminiscences The Dominican Convent and the Palace of Diego Columbus Capture of the Palmetto, the Olive Jane, and the Golden Eagle How the Roads are blazed out upon the Sea Captain Maury 563

CHAPTER XLII. The Crossing of the 30th Parallel The Toil-Gate upon the Sea How the Travellers pass along the Highway Capture of the Washington ; John A. Parks; the Bethia Taylor the Punjab; the Morning Star; the Kingfisher; the Charles Hill; and the Nora Alabama crosses the Equator Capture of the Louisa Hatch Arrival at Fernando de Noronha 581

CHAPTER XLIII. Fernando de Noronha Its Famous Peak Is a Penal Settlement of Brazil A Visit from the Governor s Ambassadors A Visit to the Governor in return The Aristocracy of the Island Capture of the Lafayette and the Kate Cory Burning of these two Ships with the Louisa Hatch Prisoners sent to Pernambuco The Cloud Ring and the Rainy and Dry Seasons 596

CHAPTER XLIV. The Alabama leaves Fernando de Noronha for a Cruise on the Coast of Brazil Enters the great Highway, and begins to overhaul the Travellers Capture of the Whalers Nye ; Dorcas Prince ; Union Jack; Sea Lark A Reverend Consul taken Prisoner Alabama goes into Bahia What occurred there Arrival of the Georgia Alabama proceeds to Sea again Capture of the Gildersleeve ; the Justina; the Jabez Snow ; the Amazonian ; and the Talisman 610

CHAPTER XLV. The Alabama continues her Cruise on the Coast of Brazil American Ships under English Colors The Enemy s Carrying-Trade in Neutral Bottoms The Capture of the Conrad She is commissioned as a Confederate States Cruiser The Highways of the Sea, and the Tac tics of the Federal Secretary of the Navy The Phenomena of the Winds in the Southern Hemisphere Arrival at Saldanha Bay, on the Coast of Africa 626

CHAPTER XLVI. The connecting Thread of the History of the War taken up A brief Review of the Events of the last twelve Months, during which the Alabama has been commissioned The Alabama arrives at Cape Town Capture of the Sea-Bride Excitement thereupon Correspondence between the U. S. Consul and the Governor on the Subject of the Capture 642

CHAPTER XLVII. A Gale at Cape Town The Alabama gets under way for Simon's Town Capture of the Martha Wenzell The Tuscaloosa Her Status as a Ship of War considered She proceeds to Sea The Alabama follows her They, with the Sea-Bride, rendezvous at Angra Pequena . 660

CHAPTER XLVIII. The Alabama on the Indian Ocean The Passengers questioned, and contracted with The Agulhas Current The brave West Winds A Theory The Islands of St. Peter and St. Paul The Tropic of Capricorn The South-east Trade-Winds, and the Monsoons The Alabama arrives off the Strait of Sunda Capture of the Amanda Runs in and anchors under the Coast of Sumatra 674

CHAPTER XLIX. The Alabama passes through the Strait of Sunda, seeing nothing of the Wyoming Burns the Winged Racer just inside of the Strait The Malay Boatmen, and their Alarm Alabama makes for the Gaspar Strait, and burns the Contest, after an exciting Chase She passes through the Carimata Passage Discharges her Prisoners into an English Ship Miniature Sea-Serpents The Currents Island of Pulo Condore Arrives at Singapore 690

CHAPTER L. The Alabama at Singapore Panic among the Enemy's Shipping in the China Seas The Multitude flock to see the Alabama Curious Rumor concerning a Portion of her Crew The Author rides to the Country and spends a Night The Chinese in possession of the Business of Singapore Alabama leaves Singapore Capture of the Martaban, alias Texan Star Alabama touches at Malacca Capture of the Highlander, and Sonora Alabama once more in the Indian Ocean 708

CHAPTER LI. The Alabama crosses the Bay of Bengal The Pilgrims to Mecca, and how they received her Boarding-Officer The Burning of the Emma Jane The Town of Anjenga, and the Hindoos The Great Deserts of Central Asia, and the Cotton Crop of Hindoston The Alabama crosses the Arabian Sea The Animalculse of the Sea The Comoro Islands Johanna, and its Arab Population The Alabama passes through the Mozambique Channel Arrives at the Cape of Good Hope 722

CHAPTER LII. The Alabama again in Cape Town The Seizure of the Tuscaloosa, and the Discussion which grew out of it Correspondence between the Author and Admiral Walker Action of the Home Government, and Release of the Tuscaloosa 738

CHAPTER LIII. The Alabama at the Cape of Good Hope Leaves on her Return to Europe Capture of the Rockingham, and of the Tycoon She crosses the Equator into the Northern Hemisphere, and arrives at Cherbourg on the 11th of June, 1864 The Engagement between the Alabama and the Kearsarge 744

CHAPTER LIV. Other Incidents of the Battle between the Alabama and the Kearsarge

The Rescue of a Portion of the Crew of the Alabama by the English Steam-Yacht Deerhound
The United States Government demands that they be given up The British Government refuses Compliance The rescued Persons not Prisoners The Inconsistency of the Federal Secretary of the Navy 761

CHAPTER LV.

The Federal Government and the English Steam- Yacht Deerhound Mr. Seward's Despatch Mr.
Lancaster's Letter to the "Daily News" Lord Russell's Reply to Mr. Adams, on the Subject of his Complaint against Mr. Lancaster Presentation of a Sword to the Author by the Clubs of England
; of a Flag by a Lady 774

CHAPTER LVI. Author makes a Short Visit to the Continent Returns to London, and embarks on his Return to the Confederate States Lands at Bagdad, near the Mouth of the Rio Grande Journey through Texas Reaches Louisiana; crosses the Mississippi, and reaches his Home after an Absence of four Years . 789

CHAPTER LVII. Author sets out for Richmond Is two Weeks in making the Journey Interview with President Davis ; with General Lee Author is appointed a Rear-Admiral, and ordered to command the James River Squadron Assumes Command Condition of the Fleet Great Demoralization The Enemy's Armies gradually increasing in Numbers Lee's Lines broken . 799

CHAPTER LVIII. The Evacuation of Richmond by the Army The Destruction of the James River Fleet The Sailors of the Fleet converted into Soldiers Their helpless Condition without any Means of Transportation The Conflagration of Richmond, and the Entry of the Enemy into the Confederate Capital The Author improvises a Railroad Train, and escapes in it, with his Command, to Danville, Va 807

CHAPTER LIX. Interview with President Davis and Secretary Mallory Author's Command organized as a Brigade of Artillery The Brigade marches to Greensboro , N. C. Capitulation between General Joseph E. Johnston and General Sherman Dispersion of Johnston's Command in Consequence Author returns Home, and is arrested Conclusion 817