

Hitchcock, George A. From Ashby to Andersonville: The Civil War Diary and Reminiscences of George A. Hitchcock, Private, Company A, 21st Massachusetts Infantry. Edited by Ronald G. Watson. Campell, Calif.: Savas Publishing, 1997.

Noisy camp, Sabbath, 7
Antietam, 13
Burnside and McClellan, 21
Chaplain, religious service, 24
McClellan, 268-69
*Lincoln, 26
Music, 40
Burning fence, 40
Fredericksburg campaign, 33ff
Picket truce, 43
Foraging in Fredericksburg, 50-51
Christmas, 61-62
Tents, cleared vermin, 64
Mud March, 65-55
Cold pickets, 67
Alcohol, 81-82, 83
Ferrero, 92
Kentucky deserter, 95
Black religion, 102
Baseball, 102-3
Marching, 108
Christian Commission, tracks, 111
Day of thanksgiving, 113
Soldiers' home, Louisville, 119
Fate, death, 121
Cumberland Gap, 130-31
Destruction, 131-32
East Tennessee, campaign, Knoxville, 132ff
Knoxville, 135
Thoughts of desertion, 144
Close call, 151
Fraternization, 158
Reenlistment, furlough, 174
Lexington, John Hunt Morgan house, 176
Copperheads, 187
Overland campaign, 194ff
Indians, 200-1
Fredericksburg, 201-2
Cold Harbor, 210ff
Taken prisoner, 214
Richmond, 216
Prisoner, food prices, Confederate money, 223

Andersonville, 227ff
Sanitary conditions, 234
Cruel guards, 235
Guards sell food, 236
Raiders, Andersonville, 237ff
Patriotic music, 239-40
Dysentery, 250
Prisoner transport, railroad, 266
Millen, Georgia, 265-74
Florence, South Carolina, 274ff