

Brooks, Noah. Abraham Lincoln. New York: G. P. Putnam's Sons, 1888.

CHAPTER I THE LINCOLN ANCESTRY

Condition of the People at the End of the War for Independence — Migrations of the Earlier Lincolns — A Tragedy in the Wilderness — ^Abraham Lincoln's Parents in Kentucky — Birth of the Future President — The Old Kentucky Home — ^Another Migration — ^A Great Disaster in Indiana . 1

CHAPTER II THE BOYHOOD OF LINCOLN

The Lincoln Home in Indiana — Hard Times — The Boy of the Backwoods — Log Cabin Building — Abraham Lincoln's First Letter — The Funeral in the Wilderness — The Boy's First Book

CHAPTER III YOUNG MANHOOD

Thomas Lincoln's Second Marriage — Improvements in the Backwoods Home — More Books for the Boy — His Horizon Enlarges — He Learns to be Thorough — Down the Mississippi — A Glimpse of Slavery — Coming out of the Wilderness 27

CHAPTER IV THE LINCOLNS IN ILLINOIS

The Land of Full-Grown Men — ^Lincoln Attains his Majority — Striking Out for Himself — Another River Voyage — An Odd Introduction to New Salem — Some Rough and Tumble Discipline — ^The Backwoodsman Conquers Friends — He Vanquishes English Grammar 43

CHAPTER V A PLUNGE INTO POLITICS

Young Lincoln's Growing Passion for Knowledge — Candidate for the State Legislature — Captain in the Black Hawk War — A Gathering of Men Since Famous — Hardships of the Volunteer Soldiers — Stump-Speaking and Defeat — Lincoln as a Country Merchant — Lawyer and Surveyor . . -54

CHAPTER VI THE YOUNG POLITICIAN

Elected to the Legislature — Stump Speaker and Political Debater — Encounters on the Stump — The Lincoln-Stone Protest against Slavery — "The Long Nine" - ^Removal of the State Capital to Springfield — Compliments to the Sangamon Chief — Lincoln a Full-Fledged Lawyer — Riding the Illinois Circuit — Distinguished Associates at the Bar — Lincoln as a Harrison Man 70

CHAPTER VII WINNING HIS WAY

His First Love Affair — A Disappointment — Dark Days — ^The Lincoln-Shields *'Duel" — Good Advice on the Subject of Quarrelling — Lincoln and Van Buren — A Roadside Symposium — Congressional Expectations 80

CHAPTER VIII THE RISING POLITICIAN

Lincoln's Admiration of Henry Clay — An Irresponsive Idol — Slavery and the Tariff — Lincoln Elected to Congress — ^The Mexican War — A Queer Nickname — Rise of the Free-Soil Party — Election of General Taylor — Return to Springfield — ^The Boys of Lincoln — A Shiftless Relative ... 99

CHAPTER IX LINCOLN THE LAWYER

An Honest Advocate and Counsellor — "The Snow Boys and Old Man Case — Famous Lawsuits about Negroes — Jack Armstrong's Son on Trial for Murder — Lincoln's Vindication of his Old Friend — How the Attorney Looked and Spoke . 121

CHAPTER X A GREAT AWAKENING

Stupor Before Excitement — A Dead Sea of Politics — Repeal of the Missouri Compromise — ^The Migration to Kansas — Lincoln and Douglas Meet Again — ^A Memorable Debate —

Lincoln Withdraws from the Canvass — Lyman Trumbull Elected to the Senate • 231

CHAPTER XI THE KANSAS STRUGGLE

Freedom and Slavery Wrestle with Each Other — "Bleeding Kansas" — ^The Troubles of Slave-Owners — ^The Irrepressible Conflict — Lincoln's Slowness and Reticence • • • 144

CHAPTER XII THE COMING MAN

Birth of the Republican Party — Nomination of Fr6mont — The Party Lines Drawn — A Virulent Campaign — Election of James Buchanan — Kansas Reluctant to Consent to Slavery 153

CHAPTER XIII LINCOLN AND DOUGLAS

The Famous Contest for the Senatorship — A Battle of Giants — Douglas and Lincoln Compared — Two Self-made Men — Lincoln's Autobiography — A Series of Famous Debates — The Country Intent on the Struggle — A Great Lesson in American Politics 161

CHAPTER XIV AFTER A GREAT STRUGGLE

Condition of the Two Contestants — The Crocodile and the Negro — Douglas in the South — Lincoln Nominated by Illinois Republicans — The Rail-Splitting Candidate — Some Pithy Sayings — Lincoln Speaks in New York — The Man from Illinois 179

CHAPTER XV ELECTED TO THE PRESIDENCY

Rending of the Democratic Party — ^The National Convention of 1860 — Lincoln Nominated at Chicago— A Memorable Scene — Popular Enthusiasm — Four Tickets in the Field — Lincoln's Great Triumph 189

CHAPTER XVI AFTER THE ELECTION

The President-Elect and the Office-Seekers — ^A Policy Demanded — Treason in Buchanan's Cabinet — Organization of the Rebel Confederacy — Alarm in the North — The Star of the West Fired On — A Peace Congress in the Face of War . 203

CHAPTER XVII FROM SPRINGFIELD TO WASHINGTON

Lincoln's Farewell to his Fellow-Townsmen — Prayers for the President-Elect — Rush of the People to See Him — ^A Series of Remarkable Speeches — Why the President Would Wear a Beard — Rumors of Assassination — The Night Journey from Harrisburg to the Capital . . . 219

CHAPTER XVIII LINCOLN'S INAUGURATION

A Notable Gathering in Washington — The First Inaugural Address — How it was Received North and South — Precautions against Plots — Formation of the Cabinet — Representative Men 236

CHAPTER XIX PRESIDENT ABRAHAM LINCOLN

In the White House — Assembling of the Rebel Congress — Rebel Emissaries Sent to Washington — A Vigorous Policy Clamored for — The First Gun at Sumter — Great Excitement throughout the Republic — ^A Nation in Arms — ^Attack on the Sixth Massachusetts — Notable Deaths . • • • 251

CHAPTER XX BEGINNING OF THE GREAT STRUGGLE

The Combatants Pace to Face — ^The First Battle of Bull Run — The Sting of Defeat — George B. McClellan— Effect of the Great Disaster — A Message to Congress — Men and Money Voted — How Foreign Nations Regarded the Struggle — Seizure and Release of Mason and Slidell 275

CHAPTER XXI THE SLAVERY QUESTION ARISES

Fremont's Troubles in Missouri — His Policy Disapproved by the President — General Hunter's Proclamation Revoked — Irritation in the Border States — Lincoln Invites a Conference — ^Arming the Freedmen Proposed — Lincoln's Letter to Horace Greeley — The Emancipation Proclamation Issued 293

CHAPTER XXII A DIFFICULT MILITARY SITUATION

Creation and Equipment of ^n Army — The Federal Military Plan — Retirement of General Scott — General McClellan in Full Command — Appearance of General U. S. Grant — Fall of Forts Henry and Donelson — Criticism of McClellan — ^Death of the President's Son Willie — Military Operations on the Peninsula — McClellan's Extraordinary Delays — His Advice to the President — Halleck Made General-in-Chief — ^A Conference of Loyal Governors — ^The Second Bull Run Defeat — ^Antietam — ^McClellan Relieved of His Command . 318

CHAPTER XXIII THE TURNING OF THE TIDE

The Battle of Fredericksburg — Rise of the Peace Party — Factions in Congress — ^The Battle of Chancellorsville — A Conscription Ordered and Martial Law Declared — Colored Troops Enlisted — Great Financial Measures Afoot — Vandalism's Expulsion and Return— Growth of the Anti-War Sentiment — ^Fall of Vicksburg and Battle of Gettysburg — Popular Rejoicings — The President's Proclamation of Thanksgiving — Draft Riots in New York — Lincoln's Address on the Field of Gettysburg — Grant and Sherman in the West 349

CHAPTER XXIV POLITICAL COMPLICATIONS

A "President-Making" Congress — ^Activity of Lincoln's Opponents — Grant Appointed Lieutenant-General — Beginning of an Aggressive Campaign — Federal Successes in the Southwest — Sheridan in the Valley of the Shenandoah — Political Troubles in Missouri — Lincoln Renominated — McClellan the Democratic Nominee — A Diversion in Favor of Fremont — Peace Negotiations at Niagara — Five Hundred Thousand Men Called Out — Lincoln Re-elected — Renewed Talk of Peace — A Peace Conference at Hampton Roads — "The President's Last, Shortest, and Best Speech — The Second Inauguration 383

CHAPTER XXV THE FAMILY IN THE WHITE HOUSE

Plain Living and Simple Manners — Lincoln's Kindness and His Righteous Wrath — ^The Sons of Lincoln — The Boy of the White House — ^Threats of Assassination — The President's Dealings with Office-Seekers — Sundry Anecdotes . 415

CHAPTER XXVI THE PRESIDENT AND HIS CABINET

Popular Expectation that Secretary Seward would be the Leading Spirit of the New Administration — Mr. Lincoln's Firmness and Kindness with the Secretary of State — Mr. Stanton's Criticisms of Lincoln — Why Secretary Cameron left the Cabinet — The Exit of Postmaster-General Blair — Secretary Chase's Restiveness — His Subsequent Appointment as Chief- Justice — The President Deferred to the Ministers 427

CHAPTER XXVII END OF A STRANGE EVENTFUL HISTORY

Symptoms of a Collapse of the Confederacy — Lee Seeks a Parley with Grant — The Fall of Richmond — Plight of the Rebel Government — Lincoln in the Former Rebel Capital ^ He Goes to the Front — The Surrender of Lee — Great Joy of the People — The National Capital in a Frenzy of Delight Lincoln's Last Public Speech ^- His Death and Funeral — Conclusion • • 441
INDEX 459