

Cate, John March. If I Live to Come Home: The Civil War Letters of Sergeant John March Cate, Co. D, 33rd Massachusetts Volunteer Infantry Regiment. Pittsburgh: Dorrance Publishing, 1995.

Travel to the front, 5-6
Morality in army, 7
Food, 7
Fights, shooting, drunkenness, 10
Soldier pay, 10
Second Bull Run, 18-19
Chaplain, 18
Alexandria, alcohol, 19
Food, foraging, 21
Prisoner, Alexandria, slave pen, 30
Prisoners, men and women, 32-33
Whiskey, 33
Franz Sigel, 40
Letters, read by others, 42
Box, clothes, food, 43
Chaplain, services, 46
Burnside and McClellan, 51-52
Food, 54
Box, boots, 60
Fredericksburg, 61-62
Fireplace and chimney, 63
Box, food, 67, 90
Mud march, 72-73
Deaths in regiment, 76
Duty, family, 85
Home, love, duty, 91-92
Chancellorsville, 93-94
Soldier pay, money home, 95
Union and war, 95-96
Food, 98
Gettysburg, 104-7
Shoes, 105, 113
Conscription, 114
Blankets, 116
Guerrillas, 129
Food, 136
Clothes, prices, 136
Chattanooga, 144ff
Lookout Mountain, 144-49
Box food, 152
Reenlistment bounty, 153, 157
Clothing, 155

Soldier pay, 156
Furlough, 162
Chaplain, 164
Baseball, 168
Reenlistment, subjugation of the South, slavery, race, 169-70
Chickamauga battlefield, 179
Battle of Resaca, 181
Horrible deaths, wounded, hospitals, tired of war, 182-84
Atlanta campaign, 190ff
Sanitary commission, food, 193
Army food, 198, 201
Soldier pay, 204, 217-18, 220
Atlanta campaign, 210ff
Food prices, soldier pay, 211
Food, prices, 214
Rumor of Richmond's fall, alcohol, 215
Atlanta, prostitutes, 216
Band concerts, soldier pay, 221
Destruction of Atlanta, 221
Election of 1864, Lincoln, 221-22
Union occupation of Savannah, 226ff
Sherman, soldiers idolize him, 236
Federals capture Richmond, 239
Joseph Johnston surrender, 240-43
Lincoln assassination, 241-43