

Ward, Lester. Young Ward's Diary. Edited by Bernhard J. Stern. New York: G. P. Putnam's Sons, 1935.

141st Pennsylvania

Election of 1860, Lincoln, 18
Politics, preaching, church, 28
Satirical composition on secession and the Union, 39-40
Racial capacity debate, 49, 50
Fort Sumter, 49
Religious feelings, 50-51
Civil war and slavery, 52
War excitement, women making flag, 52
Departure of soldiers, 53
Humorous piece on secession and war, 53-56
Ward on inevitability of war, 56-57
Greatly desires marriage with his girlfriend, 58-59
Temperance and war, 65, 94-95
Education, 68-69
Fast, humiliation, and prayer, 77
School teacher qualifications, 82-83
Speech on treason, 85-86
Lincoln, 102
Union and slavery, 102-3
Debate on McClellan, 105
Enlistment, 113-14
Wounded, 117
War sermon, 121
Horace Greeley, 123
Pennsylvania governor's election, 1863. Some violence, 123-24
Invalid corps, 128
Washington, 132ff
Conscription, 146
Temperance speech, 148-49
Lincoln, election of 1864, 151
New York, 152-53
Washington, 157ff
Application to Lincoln for clerkship in Treasury Department, 160-61
No amnesty for rebels, traitors, 167-68
Lincoln assassination, 168
Lincoln funeral, 169
Sherman and Johnston peace agreement, 170

