

Pender, William Dorsey. The General to His Lady: The Civil War Letters of William Dorsey Pender to Fanny Pender. Edited by William W. Hassler. Chapel Hill: University of North Carolina Press, 1988.

Enlistment, 9-10
Louis Wigfall, 11-12
Asks for forgiveness for his faults, 13
Southern troops, overconfidence, need for defeat, 16
Politicians and military positions, 16
Too many flags being made for companies, 16
Food, cramped quarters, 16
Rally of forces in the North, 18
Barbarians occupying public buildings in Washington, New York, 18
North Carolina legislature and secession, 18
Hard to work with men, liquor, 20
Proud of being an officers, 21-22
Soldier pay, 30
Methodist chaplain, religious service, 32
Soldiers have confidence in him, 33-34
Dispute with Governor Henry T. Clark, 35, 37-38
Fasting, humiliation, and prayer, 35
Deserters, traitors, 37
Woman flirting with him, 39
Death of a soldier, illness, 41
Flirtation and Fanny's response, 42-46
English and French recognition of Confederacy, 48
Advice on health and exercise, 52
Soldiers need socks, 53
White soldiers neglect blacks, slave? In camp, 55
Suffering and sick soldiers, 62
Marriage, religion, fear of permanent separation, 62
Religious sentiments, 64, 66-68, 70
Conceited, bragging soldier, 67
Religion, baptism, 71-72, 74, 76-77
No military information in his letters, security, does not know much anyway, 79
Unclean conversation, 81
Religion and salvation, 81
Complains of his officers, 84
Rumor of Fremont proclamation and resignations in cabinet, 92
Chaplain appointment, 92
McClellan plans, 103. 107
Religious reading and his father, 104-5
Sutler and whiskey, 105-6
Tent and accommodations for her, 107-8
Religious instructive of his slave, 108-9
Lincoln's message to Congress, Fernando Wood, 110

Camp no place for women, 114
Runaway marriage, 120
Doubts about his religious faith, 122
Reputation of North Carolina troops, 125
Education versus money, 125
Rumor of McClellan's removal and Lincoln taking the field, 127
McClellan, Peninsula campaign, confidence, 133-35
Yorktown, 134-39
Williamsburg, 140
False reports about battles in newspapers, 141
People of Richmond panicked about Yankees taking the city, 142
Value of Richmond, 151
Cowardly Yankees fight behind earthworks, 152
Confidence in Lee, McClellan, Stanton, 158-59
Seven Days battles, 160-61
Second Manassas campaign, 163-71
Stonewall Jackson, secretive movements, 164
Jackson and the Sabbath, 168
Antietam campaign, 172-77, 189
Marylanders, 172-73
Second Manassas and McClellan, 172-73
Boldness and greatness of Lee, 173
Stragglers and skulking, 175
Harriet Beecher Stowe and slavery, 177-78
Conscription, 178
Zebulon Vance, 180
Christianity wife, dangers of hell, 181-82
Stuart raid around McClellan, 183-84
Love for his wife, 185-86
Clothing, boots, 188
Fredericksburg campaign, 190-95
Shelling of Fredericksburg, barbarity, 193-94
Pregnancy, 203
Railroads, government, corruption, 205
Jealousy, other women, 206-7
Death of officer, alcohol, 210
Fasting, humiliation, and prayer, 211, 222
Optimistic about war ending, 213
Conscripts, drilling, 213
General Lee's illness, Hooker's plans, 215-16
Holden, peace, treasonable articles, 218
Conscripts, desertion, 220
Stonewall Jackson and promotion, A. P. Hill, 221-22
Conscription board, 222
Sermon, sectarianism, 226
North Carolina deserters, 227

Lincoln, conscription and length of war, 227
Chancellorsville, 235-237
Possible death of Stonewall Jackson, 236
Jeb Stuart and A. P. Hill, 239
Deserters in North Carolina, Judge Pearson, 240
Gettysburg campaign, Pender death, 242-62