

Best, Isaac O. History of the 121st New York State Infantry. Chicago: Lieut. James H. Smith, 1921.

I 20th Senatorial District — State and County Committees Appointed by Governor — Townships in Which Companies Were Raised — Camp Schuyler — Muster of Regiment ... 1

II Ordered to Washington — Col. Clinton Beckwitk's Story to Be Used — Reviewed by President Lincoln — Assignment to Brigade — The 5th Maine and 121st N. Y 6

III The Military Situation in Maryland — South Mountain Range — Battle of Crampton's Pass — At Antietam the Day After the Battle . 15

IV Colonel Franchott Succeeded by Colonel Upton — Upton's Previous Service and Character — Forward Movement under McClellan — Upton's Discipline — Burnside Succeeds McClellan — Reorganization by Bumside 26

V The Battle of Fredericksburg — A Day on the Skirmish Line — The Mud March — Burnside Relieved by Hooker — President Lincoln's Letter to Hooker . . . 39

VI Reorganization of the Army by Hooker — Crossing the River in Pontoon Boats — the 6th Corps at Fredericksburg — Capture of Marye's Heights — The Battle of Salem Church — Successful Withdrawal to Bank's Ford — The Brandy Bottle in War 58

VII The Final March to Gettysburg — Position of 121st at Gettysburg — Prompt Pursuit of Lee 84

VIII Brigade Headquarters Attacked by Mosby — The Battle of Rappahannock Station — Adj. Gen. R. P. Wilson — The Importance of the Victory — Mine Run — General Bartlett Visits the Regiment — His Speech — Life in Winter Quarters at Hazel Run 92

IX Regimental Organization in May, 1864 — The Wilderness Campaign Begun May 4 — Lee's Army Organization — The Battle of the Wilderness — The Right Flank Turned — Restored by the 121st— The Woods on Fire 115

X May 10th Assault — Capture of Enemy's Works — Failure of Support — Orderly Withdrawal — Responsibility for Failure — Colonel Olcott Wounded and Captured — Upton's Promotion to Brig. Gen'l.— The Bloody Angle ... 124

XI The Angle Described — Upton's Report of Battle—The Tree Cut Down by Bullets— The Appearance of Field Next Morning 141

XII Meyer's Hill Affair — Jericho Ford — Destroying R. R. — Sheridan's Raid Around Lee's Army 149

XIII Charge of 2nd Conn.— Withdrawal— Shriek of Wounded Man 154

XIV General Lee Mystified — At Bermuda Hundreds — A Sutler Comes to Grief — Arrival at Petersburg—A Mortar Shell 162

XV Ordered to Washington — Reception at Washington — At Fort Stevens — Lincoln and General Wright — Pursuit of Early to Snickersville Ford— Early Advance 169

XVI Sheridan Takes Command — Itinerary of Brigade in Valley — The Opequon Battle — General Russell Killed — Upton Wounded — Battle of Fisher's Hill— The Exposed Flank 176

XVII General Gordon's Strategy at Cedar Creek— The Successful Attack — Advance Checked — The Enemy Routed 189

XVIII Return to Petersburg — Hatcher's Run — The Attack on Ft. Steadman — A Successful Charge 202

XIX The Brigade Sent to 19th Corps — Skirmishes into Petersburg — The Pursuit of Lee — Battle of Sailor's Creek — Colonel Cronkite Wounded 208

XX Lee's Surrender — Sixth Corps Sent South to Burkesville and Danville — Receives Recruits and Officers Mustered to Full Ranks — Returns to Washington and 121st Is Mustered Out at Halls Hill, Va 219

Appendix — The Number of Men in Regiment Uncertain — Table of Losses — List of Officers and Their Terms of Service — Transfers to 65th N. Y. Vet. Vols. — Gettysburg Monument — Roster of Surviving Members — Personal Mention — Transfers to U. S. C. T. — Regimental Association — Historical Committee 229