

Gildersleeve, Basil Lanneau. Soldier and Scholar: Basil Lanneau Gildersleeve and the Civil War. Edited by Ward W. Briggs Jr. Athens: University of Georgia Press, 1998.

Richmond Examiner editorials, 115ff
Speculates on fate of men after the war, 116
Surgeons, 116
Speculators and contractors, 116-17
Jews, 117
Prices and hoarding, 118
Historical parallels, Greeks, Peloponnesian War, Romans as Yankee ideal, various European parallels, French Revolution, 119-123
McClellan, 122
Individualism and discipline in the army, feeding the armies, 123-27
Tax in kind, 126
Loan and speculators, 126
Businesslike southerners vs. sentimental Yankees, 128
Northern insurance companies, 128
Proud of southern native whites society, 131
Proud of defending liberty and class unity, 132
Defense of oligarchy, 132-33
Yankee foraging, 133
Defends critics of Confederate bureaucracy, 134-35
Yankee claims to literary distinction, Olmsted, 135-38
Writing biographies of generals, Rosecrans, Chickamauga, 139-43
Memminger, Confederate currency, bonds, 143-46
Yankees, Charleston, Fort Sumter, Beauregard, 147-51
War a struggle of slaves vs. mechanics, fear of northern and foreign isms, rejects industrialization and protectionism, retain agricultural south, 151-55
Real losses from the war, empty victories, people have the courage to face the real nature of the war, 156-58
Seward, Lincoln, 157-160
War and cotton, need for revolution in finance, no use in enrolling the very young and the very old, tighten up exemptions, need efficiency more than numbers, 160-65
Decadent Richmond society, luxuries through the blockade, starving with luxuries all around, corruption, 165-68
Confederates in Europe, Europeans ignorant about America,, war has garnered attention for the now two nations, questions about quality of Confederate diplomats in Europe, 169-73
Southerners and northern literature. Edward Everett's Gettysburg oratory, 173-76
Southern interests and slavery, possible exile of Confederates, blockade runners, 177-82
Jefferson Davis, Napoleon III, criticizes lack of Confederate political leadership, bad selection of officials, criticizes Davis appointments, cabinet, 182
Bible and the Civil War—used by both sides, Herschel Johnson, impressment, Jews, 187-91
Taxation of the middle class, tax in kind, currency, Confederate loan, speculators, 191-94
Memminger, debt repudiation, new currency, army opinion, soldier pay, 194-97
Jefferson Davis message, critique in poetry, 197-202
Inflation, currency, substitutes for various items, taxation, 202-4

Diplomatic talks, Europe and the Confederacy, dismissive of foreign news, 205-7
 Christmas, 208-9
 Cavalry, horses, discipline, defective organization, 210-13
 Assessment of 1863, military situation, finances, sin and cheap repentance, speculators, 213-16
 Conscription, substitution, soldier opinion, exemptions, 220-22
 Starvation parties, Richmond social life, refugees, rails against dancing parties, 222-26
 Blockade runners, decadent literature, Yankees connected to crocodiles, 226-29
 Meat, food, denies food shortages for soldiers, criticizes commissary department, Confederates eat too much meat, 230-34
 Harmony, defends criticism of the government, defends independent newspapers, 234-37
Vesta, blockade runners, 237-38
 Southern prisoners, feared by Yankees, Confederates do not fear Yankee prisoners, Johnson's Island, 239-45
 Confederate currency, 246-248
 Conscription, substitutes, exemptions, 248-51
 Foreign commerce, regulations, currency inflation, speculators, luxury goods, 251-54
 Congress, Stonewall Jackson as Confederate hero, party hacks, lawyers, men of ability taken into the army, 254-57
 Currency bill, Confederate money, 262-65
 Kilpatrick, Dahlgren raid, Stoneman, Averell, Streight, 265-69
 Rumors of foreign intervention, Yankees intend extermination and subjugation, Seward, Great Britain, 269-72
 Sacrifice, optimists are those who have lost the most, Kilpatrick, Joseph E. Brown, Henry Watkins Allen, 272-75
 War and endurance, Georgia assembly resolutions, peace movement, 275-78
 Slavery, Yankees, Lincoln, Yankee obsession with blacks, miscegenation, 279-283
 Grant, Overland campaign, Butler, Jefferson Davis, Confederate cavalry, Forrest, Morgan, McClellan, Hooker, 283-287
 Confederate money, currency, 287-91
 Miscegenation, 291-94
 Yankee language, literature, Emerson, Parker, 294-96
 Overland campaign, 297-99
 Lincoln's Baltimore speech, Fort Pillow, retaliation, vengeance, retribution, 300-3
 Demoralization, criticizes southern self-righteousness, 304-7
 Memminger, funding act, poem, 307-9
 Grant and Butler, 313-17
 Yankees rejoice over any small victory, Butler, Grant, costs of the war, 322-24
 Grant, hopeful military situation, cold harbor, 324-25
 Braxton Bragg, John C. Pemberton, 327-29
 David Hunter, Shenandoah Valley, 330-334
 Monocacy, battle, Jubal Early, 335-39