

Hubbard, John Milton. Notes of a Private. Bolivar, Tenn.: R. P. Shackelford, 1973.

7th Tennessee Cavalry, Co. E
Enlistment, 9
Union sentiment, 10
Women and war, 10
Saddlebags and saddles, 11
Mustered in, 12
Confidence we could whip the Yankees 4-1, 14
M. Jeff Thompson, arms, 15-16
Missouri, 15ff
Columbus, Kentucky, 19-20
Unionists concealing their true sentiments, 22
Skirmish, 23-24
Some Kentucky soldiers, 24-27
Deserters, 30
Armstrong Raid, 33-35
Davis Bridge, Grierson, 36-40
Corinth, 40-45
Retreat from Corinth, 48
Oxford, Mississippi women, 49-53
Van Dorn, Holly Springs, 54-62
AWOL into Alabama, Florence, 63
Local heroes, 66-71
Hernando fight, 75-77
Collierville, 77-83
Confederate prospects in the war, 80-81
Pigeon Roost Creek, 83-84
Winter duties, 86
Cardplaying, dancing, 86-87
Prisoner exchange, fraternization, 87-88
Organization of Forrest's Cavalry, 89-90
Sooy Smith raid, 91-94
Union City, 95-96
Skirmish, 98-99
Fort Pillow, 101-102
Slave trade, 105-6
Deserter execution, 107-8
Brice's Crossroads, 108-22
Camp, 122-23
Harrisburg battle, 123-34
Forrest, 133
Food, 135
Memphis raid, 139-49
Organization of a Tennessee brigade, 150
Raid into Middle Tennessee, 152-77

Forrest speech at Tupelo, 154-55
Crossing the Tennessee River, 159
Florence, Alabama, 160
Athens Alabama skirmish, 161-66
Guerrilla guide, 172
Crossing river, 172-73
Carbuncles, 178
No tents, alcohol, 180
Selman, Alabama, Wilson's Raid, 182-90
Surrender, Forrest, 194-96
Postwar adjustment, teaching, 196-97
Conclusions about cavalry and Forrest, 198-99
Forrest's Farewell Address, 201-5