

Graham, Matthew J. The Ninth Regiment New York Volunteers (Hawkins' Zouaves: Being a History of the Regiment and Veteran Association from 1860 to 1900. New York: {E. P. Coby & Sons,} 1900.

Author was in Company A

Introduction

Chapter I. Derivation of Name Zouaves — Organization of the New York Zouaves in 1860, with Copy of Original Pamphlet Containing By-Laws, Committees, etc 21

Chapter II. Organization of Civil Club— Drill Master Serg't Benzoni — First Shot of the Civil War— Firing on Fort Sumter — First Offer of New York Troops— Organization of 9th N. Y. Volunteers— Field Officers— Castle Garden — Riker's Island — Severe Drills — New Uniform — Inspection by Gen'l John A. Dix — Off for Fortress Monroe — Presentation of Flags in Fifth Avenue — Arrival at Newport News 32

" III. Advance on Big Bethel— The First Battle of the War — General Carr's Account of Battle of Big Bethel — Account of Major Winthrop's Death by a Southerner — Forces Engaged and Losses Sustained — Zouaves to the Front — Colonel Phelps and his Peculiarities — Right General Guide Herbert and His Grave Error — Two Zouaves Attempt to get a " Pull " with Colonel Phelps 55

Chapter IV. Reconnaissance by Companies A and F— Skirmish with the Enemy — Trouble about the Relative Rank of Officers — Decided by Drawing Lots — General Butler Superseded by General Wool — Special Order for Expedition to Hatteras Inlets — Three Companies of the Ninth Join Expedition — Arrival off Hatteras — Bombardment of Forts — Surrender — Amount of Material Captured 70

Chapter V. Colonel Hawkins Assumes Command of Post — Correspondence Between Colonel Hawkins and General Wool— Expedition to Beacon Island — Lieut. -Colonel Betts and Five Companies Rejoin Regiment — Surrender of Gunboat " Fannie " — Attack on 20th Indiana — General Williams Supersedes Colonel Hawkins — Construction of New Forts — Antipathy of Men to Williams — Boys " Scouting " for Fresh Pork Seriously Alarm the General — Major Kimball and Two Companies Arrive from Newport News— Arrival of Burnside Expedition — All Ready for Roanoke Island — Rations from the Sea — Wine Labels Passed as Currency — Robbing Potato Houses 84

" VI. Underway for Roanoke Island — Arrival — Engagement with the Forts — Landing of the Troops — Bivouac in the Mud for the Night — Stealing Bed from Beneath the Colonel — Army Moves on the Enemy — Major Kimball's Fear that the Men Might Weaken — Arrival in Front of Battery — Order to Charge the Works — Colonel DeMonteil Killed — First Bayonet Charge of the War — What Curie Saw — Reflections — Extracts from Reports of Generals in Command — Capture of Captain Wise — More Rain — Description of Prisoners ... 119

Chapter VII. Expeditions to Nag's Head and Winton, N. C. — Ninth Regiment Garrisons Roanoke Island — Resignation of Lieutenant- Colonel Betts — Expedition under Major Jardine — Expedition to South Mills — Terrific March — Battle of South Mills or Camden — Heavy Loss of the Ninth — Death of Adjutant Gadsden — Return to Roanoke — Retrospection—General Reno's Report of Battle — Colonel Hawkins' Report 157

" VIII. Ninth New York Garrisons Roanoke Island — Recreation the Order of the Day — Practical Uses of Captured Powder — Company K's New Battery Tactics Innocently Getting Square with the Company Cook — Testimonial to Col. Hawkins — Parade and Drill of Ninth Under Command of Non-Commissioned Officers — New Recruits Troubled with " Lapsy Palls " Cured by Sergeant Horner— Lieutenant Flusser, U. S. N., Captures Plymouth and Company " F " Detailed to Garrison Town — Runaway Slaves Returned to Owner — Wessel's Brigade Relieves Company " F"—Enemy Attack and Defeat Wessel, Re-Capture Plymouth and Kill Flusser — Burnside Leaves for Fort Monroe— Ninth Leaves Roanoke for Norfolk — Camp for Contrabands— Losses of Burnside Expedition 192

" IX. Farewell to Roanoke Island — Arrival at Old Fort Norfolk, Va.— Off for Fortress Monroe — Arrival at Falmouth, Va. — Drills and Dress Parades a Prominent Feature — Rumors of Disaster — Army Deserts Fredericksburg and Destroys Stores — Pope's Campaign and Disastrous Failure — McClellan Again in Command of Army of the Potomac — Disorder in Washington — Camp at Meridian Hill — Off for the Maryland Campaign — Description of March — Skirmishes With the Enemy — Arrival at Frederick City, Md. — Hospitality of Inhabitants — Fire in Jail — On to Antietam — Battle of South Mountain — Coolness of Major Jardine Under Fire — Death of General Reno and Comments on His Soldierly Qualities — Arrival Near Antietam — Night Before the Battle 238

Chapter X. Lieutenant Graham's Letter Descriptive of the Battle of Antietam — Attack on the Stone Wall — Great Bravery of the Troops — Ordered to Retire and Lieutenant- Colonel Kimball's Protest— General Wilcox in Person Peremptorily Orders Kimball to Fall Back — Assistance to the Wounded — McClellan's, Burnside's, Fairchild's, and Kimball's Reports — Mr. Kirkley's Statements of Total Killed in the Civil War, and Proportion of Wounded to Killed — General Longstreet's Comments on the Battle and Comparison with Other Notable Engagements — Percentage of Regimental and Brigade Loss of the Ninth Regiment 281

" XL Retreat of the Army of Northern Virginia — Apathy of Fifth Corps — Camping on the Antietam— Recruits for the Ninth — Their Reception and Treatment by Lieutenant- Colonel Kimball and his Tribute to the Old Regiment — Captain Whiting— Visit from President Lincoln— The Loaves and the Good Zouaves — Hospital Arrangements—The Band Plays "Annie Laurie" for the Sick Men— Promotion of Surgeon Humphreys — Across Elk Ridge to Pleasant Valley— " Tenting on the Old Camp Ground" 330

Chapter. XII. Clothing and Camp Equipage Left at Meridian Hill — Cleanliness — Knapsacks

Recovered — Knapsack Drill — Hunger, Cold and Marching — Three Columns Abreast — Company G as Headquarter's Guard— Company K Joins General Kautz —General Burnside Relieves General McClellan of the Command of the Army- Scattering a Quartermaster's Train — Good Artillery Shooting— Thanksgiving Day at Falmouth — Battle of Fredricksburg — Stragglers — Winter Quarters in Virginia— On to Fortress Monroe 354

" XIII. Establishment of Camp at Newport News —The Ninth Assigned as Provost Guard- Concentrating Troops- Sutlers' Trials- Rum as a Disturber of Martial Discipline — Review of the Ninth Corps— Horse Racing and Baseball— Enroute to Fortress Monroe and Portsmouth — Telegrams—Borrowed Tents in Suffolk— An Unwarranted Tragedy — The Use of Countersigns— Death of Brigadier-General Corcoran — Ominous Thunders of Mutiny Calmed by General Getty— Removal to Fort Nansemond — Under Fire —Fake Bullets— Capturing a Battery— A Lost Yankee in Rebel Lines— The Last Day — General Orders No. 27— Disappointment of Recruits — Mustered Out 397

Chapter. XIV. The Recruits Left at Suffolk— Lack of Military Control — Volunteering for the Fight — Camp Rumors — Private Reconnoitering— The Man of Straw— Uncertainty and Anxiety Among the Men — Transferred to the Third New York — Bossing the Regiment— Off for Field Service — Campaigning in South Carolina— Army of the James — Army of the Potomac — Men of the Ninth Distinguish Themselves — Regiment Dwindles Away — Call for Second Battalion— A New Ninth Organized— Formation of 178th New York Volunteers — Ordered to Virginia — New Ninth Recruiting— The July Riots— Jardine and White Wounded — Rescued— Battalion at Fort Hamilton— Seventeenth New York— Ordered to the Front— Provisional Brigade — Service of 178th — Service of 17th — Men Who Served in Other Regiments 433

" XV. Introduction to the Third Georgia — Various Meetings on the Battlefield — Seeking Old Foes After the War— The Ninth Visits the Third— Incidents of the Visit to Georgia — Speeches — Reception of the Third Georgia by the Zouaves— How They were Treated by their Old -Time Foes — Banquets — Sightseeing — Excursions — Departure of the Georgians 463

Chapter XVI. Ceremonies at the Dedication of the Monument Erected on the Battlefield of Antietam in Memory of the Dead of the Ninth New York Volunteers — Preliminary Work of the Committees— Journey to the Battlefield — Comrade Richard's Invocation — Comrade Graham's Introduction — Address by Colonel Hawkins — Unveiling the Monument — Oration by Rev. Clark Wright, of Company F — The Presentation to General Carman — Revisiting Points of Interest — The Return 493

"XVII. After Muster-Out— Desire of the Men of the Regiment to Retain the Flags — Manner in which they were Cared for — Reasons why they Should be Transferred to the State — Correspondence with the Governor— Names of Survivors who were Present at the Ceremony — Reception of the Delegation by Governor Roosevelt — Lieutenant Graham's Remarks — Governor Roosevelt's Reply — Major DeBevoise's Sketch of Service — Taps— The End 555

Muster-out Roll 567